16 To Compete For Senate Posts

Students To Name Officers At General Election May 8

By MILT HUNTINGTON

Sixteen candidates were nominated Tuesday for the offices of president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer of the General Student Senate.

Four candidates were nominated by the Senate for each position.

University students will vote for these candidates at the General Spring Elections, Tuesday, May 8.

Chosen as candidates for president of the Senate are: Eben

DeGrasse, Fred Newhall, Reginald Collins, and William Law, all juniors.

Candidates for vice president are: James Hambleton, Frank Young, James Conley, and William Farley, sophomores.

Candidates for secretary are: Judy DeMerchant, Betty Buzzell, Barbara Kelley, and Marcella Mitchell, also sophomores.

Candidates for treasurer are: Helen Inman, Judith Adams, Sheila Pelasi, and Janet Collins, freshmen.

Choose Alternate

An alternate for the treasurer's nomination was Francis Gott. Miss Collins was also a nominee for treasurer of the Women's Student Government Association. In the event Miss Collins was elected treasurer of WSGA, Miss Gott would become the fourth nominee for Senate treasurer.

A motion to hold secret balloting was made but this lost when it was not seconded.

Discussion on each candidate was held prior to the voting. Nearly all candidates have been active in campus affairs, such as fraternities, sororities, dormitories, clubs, organizations or committee work.

The Student Religious Association also announced Tuesday the list of eight candidates competing for four positions on the S.R.A. executive board at the General Elections May 8.

David Wright To Speak At Assembly

Prof. David McCord Wright of McGill University will speak on "American Capitalism and Competitive Co-Existence" at the annual Scholarship Recognition Assembly at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Memorial gym.

Prof. Wright, a William Dow professor of Economics at McGill, has a B.A. degree from the University of Penn., a LL.D. from the University of Va., and both M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard.

Wright formerly taught at the University of Va. Law School. He has served as a member of the National Community Planning Board.

To Recognize Scholars

The purpose of the assembly is to recognize outstanding groups and individuals who have excelled in scholarship. Interfraternity Council Scholarship Cup and the Panhellenic Scholarship Plate will be awarded to the fraternity and sorority with the highest rank for the last two semesters.

An academic procession consisting of members of the honorary societies on campus and the faculty will begin at 9:50 a.m. in front of the gym. The entire University faculty along with members of ten honor societies will wear gowns for this procession.

Robin Werner and Joel Kates, veteran Maine Masque performers, rehearse a scene for the next Masque play "Candida" which will be presented at the Little Theatre May 2, 3, 4, and 5. Kates plays the part of a minister in the play while Mrs. Werner plays his wife. (Photo by Johnson)

Bruce Says He Will Welcome Senate Probe

Harold L. Bruce, manager of the University Bookstore, told the Campus Tuesday that he "would be glad to talk to representatives of the General Student Senate in regard to the whole (Bookstore) setup."

Bruce's comment was made during an interview concerning the Senate's decision at its last meeting, April 17, to set up a committee to investigate the Bookstore.

Bruce added, "I'm not doing this to defend the Bookstore, but to better inform the students so they may have a more enlightened viewpoint."

Bruce further commented, "I feel that the student body's attitude is justified because of their lack of knowledge of the store."

Senator Reginald Collins, temporary chairman of the committee set up by the Senate to investigate the Bookstore, announced Tuesday that the action of the committee would not be an investigation in the general sense of the word.

Collins Reports

Senator Collins reported, "It is a re-evaluation of the objectives of the bookstore in an attempt to determine if it is functioning in the best interests of all the students."

A "study" of the bookstore was the definition given to the committee's objective by Eric Starbird, president of the Senate.

The ten-cent fee imposed on the cashing of checks by the Bookstore ignited heated discussion in Senate meetings this winter. Service and the price of books are also topics the Senate has discussed during the past few months.

The investigating committee voted by the Student Senate is composed of the following senators: Reginald Collins, Paul McLeod, Carlton Hurd, Winona Moreshead, and Kathleen Vickery.

Collins said the committee plans to study bookstores at other schools to see how they operate and to make recommendations to better the service of the Maine bookstore.

'Candida' Starts On Wednesday

By ED DAMON

A love triangle provides the setting for "Candida," the Maine Masque's final production of the year, May 2, 3, 4, and 5 at the Little Theatre.

The Masque will be celebrating its 50th anniversary with George Bernard Shaw's play, the story of a minister's wife who falls in love with a young poet.

Romantic Comedy

The play, which is a romantic comedy of the Victorian Period, will feature Joel Kates and Robin Werner in the lead roles.

Kates, who has long been associated with the Masque, will take the part of James Morell, a minister in his middle 30's, while Mrs. Werner, another familiar figure to Maine theatre-goers, will play his wife Candida.

Eugene Marchbanks, portrayed by Byron Avery, is the 18 year old poet who falls in love with Candida.

"Candida," described by the author as a "pleasant play," will also feature Bradford Sullivan as Burgess, Candida's father; Courtney Sargent as Alexander "Lexy" Miller, a young minister living with the Morells; and Margaretmary McCann as Proserpine Garnett, Miller's secretary.

Mrs. Werner, who has appeared with the Bay Village Players in Ohio, and at Baldwin-Wallace College, will be playing in her fourth Masque production of the season.

Kates, in his fourth year with the Masque, has had major roles in "Death of a Salesman," and "The Moon is Blue," and has also appeared in "Lady in the Dark," "My Three Angels," and "The Crucible."

Applications Ready

Applications for rooms in men's dormitories for next year are now available in the Housing Office, Men's Cafeteria, or may be obtained from dormitory proctors, Vernon Elsmore, manager of Men's and Family Housing, has announced.

Other Women's Student Government Association officers elected Wednesday are Jane Dudley, vice president; Ann Cruickshank, secretary; Laurel Kealiher, treasurer; Roberta Weyer, assembly chairman; and Frances Roderick, social chairman.

Jenkins To Retire After Brilliant Coaching Career

By DON COOKSON

The last chapter in a fabulous success story will be written this Spring.

The announcement Wednesday that Chester A. Jenkins, track and cross country coach at Maine for the past 28 years, will retire in June, sent observers scurrying to the record books. And with good reason, for Jenkins' record, compiled during 45 years as coach, is a truly enviable one.

His overall won and lost record in outdoor and indoor dual meets is 139 wins, 49 losses, and 2 ties. He has coached five Olympic trackmen, including Don Fabor, and Bob Bennett, Maine weightmen.

"Chet" Jenkins came to Maine in 1928 from Bates and immediately set a victory pattern. His great '28-'29 team copped the New England cross country title, went undefeated in dual indoor and outdoor meets and climaxed the season by winning the

4 Mayoralty Candidates Toss Hats Into Ring

Two freshmen and two sophomores have thrown their hats into the mayoralty ring as the annual campaign for campus mayor gets underway. Robert W. Gardner and Ronald Hurd, both freshmen, and Donald Ashton and Ronald Burnham, sophomores, have signified their intentions to run for the position by filing with the Mayoralty Committee.

Inauguration of the new campus mayor will be one of the highlights of the annual Maine Day celebration May 9. The filing deadline for candidates is May 1. Candidates must register with Joe Boomer, present mayor, or a member of the Mayoralty Committee before that date.

Float Parade

A float parade with "Yankee Yarns" as its theme, a student-faculty skit, athletic events, and an interfraternity sing will be other Maine Day highlights.

Maine Day, which falls on a Wednesday, is a day off from classes so that students and faculty can participate in a general campus clean-up and engage in the fun of campus activities.

The float parade tops the agenda with applications already pouring in. The deadline was set for April 18. On April 17, only five entries had been received, but at the last announcement the number had mounted to 21.

Floats will be judged by seven members of the administration and faculty on the aptness of the theme, originality, effectiveness, and craftsmanship.

Campaign Rules

Campaigning for mayor under the rules set up by the Committee will be allowed from 7:30 a.m. to 8:00 a.m. and from 5:00 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. "Moments to Remember" is the title for the 1956 Student-Faculty Skit. Hilarious take-offs on such things as Freshman Week, Fraternity Rushing, and even Finals will be portrayed in the skit.

Lithographs In Carnegie Exhibit

Prof. Vincent Hartgen, head of the University's Art department, has arranged an exhibit of thirty colored lithographs in the print room of Carnegie Hall for April. The lithographs are by Jack Perlmutter of Washington, D. C.

Perlmutter was born in 1920 in New York City, where he received his early training in art. He served in the U. S. Navy during the war years, and now works as a lithographer for the Navy Department. He is on the staff of Wilson Teachers College and is in charge of their art gallery.

In Many Collections

Paintings and graphic arts by Perlmutter are to be found in numerous collections.

"Like many of our contemporaries, Perlmutter uses a traditional medium in a uniquely personal manner," Professor Hartgen said. "One might say his finished products have all of the brilliance of the serigraph, but at the same time possess the freedom and flexibility of the lithograph-crayon."

Gaylord E. Moss expects to receive his B.S. in Electrical Engineering from Tufts College in 1957. His interest in electronics was aroused, in part at least, by summer work in Du Pont's Photo Products Plant at Parlin, N. J. But Gaylord's interest in technical work goes much farther back. He received the Bausch and Lomb Science Award at his high-school graduation.

Clayton Hill answers:

Where would you want to work, Gay? The choice isn't quite so wide as that reply indicates, but if you have good reason for preferring a given area, and Du Pont has an opening there for which you're qualified, your choice will certainly be considered. We have 69 plants and over 70 research and development laboratories scattered through 26 states. So the odds are pretty fair that you can work in an area you like.

Most of the Du Pont units are situated east of the Mississippi, but some of them are as far west as the Pacific Coast. Right now, new plants are under construction in Michigan and California, providing even wider choice in those two states.

Of course, a man may be transferred after a time. The chemical industry is a growth industry, and transfers are generally associated with progress and promotions.

So you see, Gay, the geography of the United States is pretty much an open book for Du Pont professional men, adding a lot to their interest and enjoyment on the job.

"Gay" Moss wants to know:

At what location would I work for Du Pont?

Clayton B. Hill, Jr., joined Du Pont's Jackson Laboratory at Deepwater, N. J., in 1940 and left for the Air Corps in 1942. After military service he obtained a B.S.Ch.E. from Pennsylvania State University (1949), and returned to Jackson Laboratory. Clayton was assigned to Du Pont's Atomic Energy Division for a period before transferring to the Personnel Division. As a representative of this Division, he currently visits many colleges and universities.

WANT TO KNOW MORE about where you'd work with Du Pont? Send for a free copy of "The Du Pont Company and the College Graduate." This booklet contains a complete listing of plant and laboratory locations, by state, and describes work available. Write to E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. No Replacement For Frank Cowan Yet

No one has been appointed to replace Frank Cowan, University Chief of Police, who died of a heart attack April 18, University officials said Monday.

According to Francis S. McGuire, Director of Plant and Facilities, an appointment will probably not be made until June first.

McGuire said that for a position of such responsibility there will be many applicants and it will be necessary to carefully screen them before making a decision.

Until a permanent appointment is made J. Carroll Dempsey, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, is handling the office work and Francis Brooks, day police officer, is in charge of general police work.

Music Night To Feature Band, Orchestra, Chorus

The 12th annual Music Night Concert in Memorial Gymnasium tonight at 8 p.m. will feature performances by the band, orchestra, and chorus. This is to be the final concert of the current University series.

The band will open the program with Gluck's overture to "Iphigenia in Aulis." This will be followed by the Glee Club's version of Mozart's "Te Deum Laudamus" in celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of his birth.

200 To Participate

Over 200 students will participate in the program which will have as a special feature the presentation of the Mu Alpha Epsilon Senior Award.

This award is given annually to the senior who has contributed most to music on campus during the last four years.

Winners of the Mu Alpha Epsilon applied music scholarships for next year will also be announced at this time.

The program will include performances of works by such masters as Giuseppe Verdi, Franz Schubert, and Johannes Brahms.

In addition the band will play Ralph Vaughn Williams' "English Folk Song Suite."

The first of Schubert's works will feature as soloist Sylvia MacKenzie. Miss MacKenzie will sing "Ellen's Second Song," and will be backed up by the treble voices of the Glee Club and a brass sextet of four french horns.

Schubert Selections

The second of the Schubert selections, "Night Song in the Forest," is for male voices and will also make use of the four french horns.

A group of contemporary works by the orchestra will follow and will include such works as "Fantasie Mexicana," by Aaron Copland, "Saltarello" by Frederic Curzon, and "Melodie Feerique," by Louis Reiz.

To close the program the band, glee club, and orchestra will combine to do the "Apotheosis" from Hector Berlioz' "Grand Symphony."

University students will be admitted by showing their I.D. cards, while the general public may purchase tickets at the door.

Plans For Prom Are Announced

Final plans for the Junior Prom May 4 from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. in Memorial gym were announced this week by the executive committee of the class.

Leroy Holmes and his 14 piece orchestra will play for the event. The popular band has just released a hit record of "When You're In Love." Two songs that the group made famous in past years are "In a Persian Market Place" and "The High and the Mighty."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Greaver and Mr. and Mrs. John Nichols will be chaperons for the affair. The receiving line will include: President and Mrs. Arthur Hauck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crossland, Dean and Mrs. Joseph Murray, and Dewey Dow.

Juniors may pick up their tickets in the lobby of the Union between 12:45 and 5 p.m. May 2, 3, or 4.

Dress for the dance will be semi-formal.

Bookstore Is On Firing Line

Every so often common gripes are aired by members of the student body concerning some particular campus utility. When it is not the food in the cafeteria, it is the coffee in the Bear's Den, campus police, the athletic department, or the price of tuition. This week the University bookstore is on the firing line.

The Senate had appointed a committee of five to conduct a study of the bookstore. As was pointed out in last week's Senate meeting, this study, or investigation in the literal sense of the word, is by no means on the same plane as the efforts of Wisconsin's Senator Joe McCarthy.

Service in the bookstore has been attacked by Senators as being poor, and there is some discrepancy concerning the price of books. A study of these points is not only good experience for Senate members, but represents the student's voice in University affairs. Senate action is a means of price control and a means of establishing or changing University laws. The General Student Senate is considered by many to be a do-nothing Senate. Action by the group in looking into campus affairs shows conscientious concern for student rights.

On the other hand student gripes are periodical. We feel that everyone is after our money or intends to cheat us in some other way. What makes it worse for everyone concerned is the fact that we are getting more independent all the time. This is good to a point, but when too many toes get stepped on, someone is going to yell.

The bookstore has served the students at Maine for a long time and the profits have been devoted to athletics and projects which have benefited the majority of the student body. We can not take this contribution lightly. The only way to derive better service from any campus utility is to cooperate with that utility and calmly bring up the student complaints with the heads of the particular department. More will be accomplished in this manner and no one is insulted or has their feelings hurt.

Have Only Two Complaints

It is nearly curtain time for this year's final production of the Maine Masque, and it looks like another smash in the making. "Candida," a romantic comedy, rounds out a season of first class entertainment. Our theatrical group approaches the professional touch as closely as any college or university unit could possibly hope.

The Maine Masque could have but two complaints concerning attendance. Maine students for some reason lack the "first-nighter" spirit. Whether we fear crowds, possible flops, girls, or neckties, something has to give. It does add to the atmosphere if the campus male faction invites lady friends to the plays. Those that rave about the expense of such an evening of higher entertainment never bat an eyelash when dropping an equal amount of money at "Pat's."

The important critics are the "first-nighters." The word gets around and the Little Theatre is suddenly too small and remains that way for the rest of the week. This is the second possible complaint by the Maine Masque.

A new auditorium is included in President Hauck's long range program, but until that dream is realized, the Little Theatre must suffice. Small though it may be, there are no obstructions and every seat in the house affords easy vision of the stage.

Theatre-goers flock downstairs in Alumni Hall at intermission and the adjectives flow like the proverbial wine. If the University theatre group continues to polish its untarnished reputation, its followers of tomorrow will be overflowing the new auditorium.

To Hold Historic Procession

By BEVE FOWLIE

Tomorrow, we will see 250 University faculty and honorary scholastic society members in procession, robed in full academic regalia.

The tradition behind such a procession goes back to the Middle Ages. Because halls of medieval buildings were damp and drafty the students, who were largely monks and priests, had to wear robes. To these robes were attached hoods that could be thrown back or pulled over the head according to weather conditions.

First Used In England

This type of dress as academic ceremonial regalia was first used in England at Oxford and Cambridge. Some of the most elaborate and colorful robes, originating at Oxford, were made of richly ornamented and heavily embroidered silks.

Characteristic of this European tradition is the great variety of costumes. Cambridge has some 30 or more different style robes. The type of costume is determined by the individual institution, a system full of contradiction and confusion.

American academic apparel is better organized. The style of the gown and the size and shape of the hood tell us the college degree held by the wearer. As we watch the procession tomorrow we will be able to tell at a glance the bachelors, masters and doctors, and at the same time recognize the university or college where the degree was obtained.

In 1894 a group of leading American educators—an Intercollegiate Commission made up of a group of leading American educators—met at Columbia College to draft a code for academic dress. A year later a charter was granted to Cotrell and Leonard, Inc., Albany, N. Y., to act as sole Depository for the Intercollegiate Bureau of Academic Costume, which is recognized as the authority on all matters pertaining to academic costume.

Distinctions Simple

The distinctions set up by the Intercollegiate Code are simple.

Gowns for the Bachelor's Degree have a semi-stiff yoke, a long pleated front and intricate shirring across the shoulders and back. The gown is worn closed and is characterized chiefly by long pointed sleeves.

Masters' gowns have the same yoke effect but are designed to be worn open. They have very long sleeves, oblong in shape, with an arc cut out at the bottom of the front. The oblong is closed at the base and the forearm protrudes through a notched slit near the elbow.

The gown for the Doctor's degree is also designed to be worn open, but it carries velvet panels draped around the neck and stitched down the front edges. These panels widen to five inches at the chest and are carried at this width all the way down to the hem. Three horizontal velvet bars are stitched on the upper arm of the full, round, bell-shaped sleeves. This velvet trimming may be either black or the color distinctive of the faculty to which the degree refers.

Gowns for both the Master's or Doctor's degrees are preferably silk. Caps may be serge, broadcloth, or for the Doctor's outfit only, velvet; the tassel of the Doctor's cap may be gold bullion.

Hood Outstanding

In American academic dress the most outstanding feature of all is the hood. The outside of the hood and that of the Master's Degree is similar.

The outside of the hood is made of black material which is bordered with velvet of the color designating the reading of the degree. The higher the degree the wider the border.

The inside of the hood is lined with the color or colors of the institution which conferred the degree. Some hoods, like those of the University of Maine, have a solid color lining. Mrs. Ingeborg MacKellar, M.S., Maine, 1951, assistant professor of home economics, wears an open gown with a hood lined in light blue and bound with a three-inch gold band designating science.

Those of some other universities or colleges, however, have what is called a chevron, or wide stripe, of another color across the background color. An example of this is the gown which will be worn by Dr. John J. Nolde, Ph.D., Cornell University, 1950, assistant professor of history and government. Nolde will wear the open gown of an academic doctor. His hood is lined with cardinal and two white chevrons bound with blue velvet indicating philosophy.

Some institutions use a device called a "Partier Chevron." This makes use of one color in the upper part of the lining, another in the lower part. Washington and Jefferson College uses this type of lining.

In order to prevent two or more schools choosing the same colors or combination of colors, the Bureau acts as a clearing house.

If more than one degree is held, the gown and hood of the higher degree are naturally worn. Two degrees of equal importance can be shown by dividing the velvet between the two identifying colors, but the lining can show only one conferring institution.

For example, President Arthur A. Hauck holds 12 honorary degrees. He wears, however, the hood of a doctor's degree, lined with light blue with two white chevrons from Columbia University which conferred his Ph.D. in 1932. The hood is bound with a 5-inch band of the light blue of philosophy.

Holders of foreign degrees may wear hoods patterned on the American Code but lined with the national colors. For example, Dr. Cecil Reynolds, associate professor of English, holds a B.S. and a B.A. from Mount Allison, 1926-27. He also holds a B.Litt. from Oxford, 1929. He wears a bachelor's gown. The hood is light blue silk, half-lined and edged with ermine white fur of Oxford. His costume designates his most recent degree. Dr. Alfred G. Pellegrino, Ph.D., Université de Montreal, wears a hood of violet with white edging.

In assigning colors signifying various departments of colleges in the U.S., the Intercollegiate Commission retained, as far as practicable, historical associations. White for the department of arts is taken from the white fur edging of the Oxford hood; red, traditional color of the church, was assigned to theology.

Mail Bag

To the editor:

I would like to offer a suggestion that we change the spelling of the "Bear's Den" just a little so that it reads "Bare's Den." Decoratively it runs a poor second to a city morgue! Nowhere have I seen a college snack-bar that was more drab and cold appearing. Sure it is modern, neat, and clean looking but it lacks any warmth or spirit.

Why don't we get together and put some life into the place by having pictures painted on the walls and/or hanging fraternity and sorority banners. The paintings, for example, could be of a humorous nature such as take-offs on college life. They might bring out subjects representative of the University like the words to the "Stein Song," or what would be more appropriate than having bears prodding about the walls indulging in characteristic activities?

These are but a few of the many possible ideas and I bet many more are milling through your head right now. We could form an interested group to compile these ideas through canvassing or voting and then go to work.

As for the cost, surely there must be many people around campus with artistic talents that would gladly pitch in and do a fine job of painting, without wanting to be reimbursed. If and when we tire of these paintings it would only be a matter of covering them over and replacing them with new ones.

There is one other thing which I would like to bring up which I'm sure most all of you have complained about at some time or another. That is the complaint you can't hear the jute-box much past the first five rows of tables, especially when the place becomes crowded. Why can't some of the electrical enthusiasts hook up another speaker at the other end of the Den so we can all enjoy it and get our money's worth.

Is anyone with me on these suggestions or shall we just change the name and buy ear-horns?

Society: 'Tender Trap' Features Ball

BY HULLY MAHER

Although last weekend was a fairly quiet one on the whole, a few groups held up the social end of campus life.

Friday night Panhellenic Council sponsored its annual Spring ball in the main lounge of the Memorial Union. The decoration theme was "The Tender Trap." Couples entered the dance floor through an oversized heart. Music was by Nat Diamond's popular orchestra. Dress was informal.

Guests of Panhellenic were President and Mrs. Arthur Hauck, Dean Edith Wilson, Dean and Mrs. John Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Jones, Dean and Mrs. Joseph Murray, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Dalton and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crossland.

During intermission a musical program was presented. At midnight there was an old-fashioned waltz contest, won by Judy and Don Pendleton. Charlotte Bourret and Murray MacDonald were co-chairmen of the ball.

Alpha Gamma Rho played host to visiting chapters Saturday night at a banquet. Following the banquet, there was a dance in the main lounge of the Memorial Union. Approximately 70 couples danced to the music of Dale Whitney's band. Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Howes and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Brugman. Dress was informal. Chairman of the dance was Ronald Burnham.

Also Saturday night, about 40 couples attended Phi Kappa Sigma's engagement party. The honored guests at the vic dance were Mary Ann Holt and Rick Starbird, Joan Williams and Bob Hutchinson, Lois Richardson and Bill Hammond and Nancy Wakely and Dave Schlieper. Dr. and Mrs. John Nichols and Mrs. Gatchell were chaperons. Jack Laing was in charge.

Lambda Chi held a Poverty Party Saturday night. Couples dressed especially for the occasion in their oldest clothes. Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Russell M. Bailey and Mrs.

Lesley Sprague. A jam session by musician members of the house was followed by dancing to records. Social chairman Dick Day was in charge.

Theta Chi also entertained Saturday night. Charles Patrick, social chairman, was in charge of the informal vic dance. Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gillespie and Mrs. Estelle Philbrook.

The pledges of Delta Zeta presented a minstrel show for the actives Wednesday night in South Estabrooke Recreation Room. End-men were Sandra Steward, Eleanor Bryant, Mabel Spinney and Elinor Luce.

The following special acts were presented: Donna Chadbourne, saxophone solo; Gladys Mersereau and Janet Hill, tap-dance routine; Liz Collins, vocal solo; and Leslie Spalding, oral interpretation.

Interlocutor was Hazel Gray and the cast was supported by a chorus of eight girls. The committee included Mabel Spinney, refreshments; Leslie Spalding, favors, and Hazel Gray, program.

PINNED: Eleanor Bryant to Malcolm Young, Theta Chi; Peggy Daigle to James Moore, Phi Gamma Delta; Patricia Twitchell to Rodney Shaw, Sigma Nu; Suzanne Audette to Edward MacGibbon, Phi Eta Kappa; Sandra Foster to Charles Murch, Theta Chi.

Tennis Team To Face Rams

Having completed their best road trip in five years, Maine's tennis team is busy prepping for a Yankee Conference match with Rhode Island here Saturday.

The local net-workers topped Connecticut 5-3, tied Rhode Island 3-3, in a match halted by rain, and lost to New Hampshire, 5-4. At Kingston, the Bears needed but one game in doubles competition to move ahead when the rains came.

Russell Pleased

Coach Garland Russell was highly pleased with the club's performance. "The boys played extremely well. We had a definite advantage this year in that we were able to put together some capable doubles teams. We are looking forward to the return engagement with Rhode Island."

Captain Don Mott won two of three matches at the number one doubles slot, and showed ability to come from behind on several occasions. Sophomore Bob McKown took both of his singles matches.

Coach Jenkins Will Step Down

Maine and New England track and field championships.

The result of this victory pattern has been twelve State cross country championships, two Yankee Conference cross country titles, six New England crowns. The Pale Blue have won 14 state outdoor meets, and claimed New England Trophies in 1929-1930.

Jenkins-coached clubs have also figured prominently on the national scene. The 1928 cross country team finished second in the nationals. Twice his teams have been second in the IC4A, five times they have been among the first five, and 15 times among the top ten. In 1939, Maine freshman harriers brought home the national championship.

Of the many highlights that have dotted his career, Jenkins considers the record-breaking performances of Bennett during the outdoor season of 1940 most memorable. In successive meets, Bennett broke the national collegiate, state, New England, and national AAU records in the hammer. His national college and AAU marks still stand.

Dr. Rome Rankin, director of athletics at the University, expressed the school's appreciation for Coach Jenkins' long and outstanding service. "Chester Jenkins' retirement will mark the end of a wonderful era in University of Maine athletics," Rankin said. "His coaching record has been outstanding and he will be greatly missed here at the University and in state and New England athletic circles. We wish him the very best of luck and much happiness in his retirement."

Ted Curtis, faculty manager of athletics, and closely associated with Jenkins for the past 26 years, commented: "Coach Jenkins' retirement will leave a large vacancy here at Maine. Not only was he a fine coach, but also a wonderful person, known and respected by his colleagues throughout the east."

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Winfield Giguere, here tuning the coils of an IF strip on an experimental FM receiver that uses the new high-frequency transistor.

"Our business is new ideas, new developments"

Winfield J. Giguere, or Gigs as he is known, graduated in 1954 from the University of New Hampshire with a B.S. in Electrical Engineering. Shortly after graduation he joined Bell Telephone Laboratories in Murray Hill, New Jersey.

"Experience has come my way in a hurry," says Gigs. "I've worked on carrier system amplifiers, speech transmission problems, and experimental types of coaxial cable. The Labs are always pushing ahead, trying new ideas, exploring new developments."

"For example, right now I'm working with 'the transistor that smashed a frequency barrier.' This new transistor has a cut-off frequency of at least 500 mc and can be used to amplify 2500 separate telephone conversations simultaneously. It will make possible broadband, high-frequency amplification in many fields using subminiature components."

"There are thousands of other fascinating projects underway at the Bell Labs. You see, at the Labs our business is new ideas, new developments, and that's one reason why I like working here. It's exciting. If there are better ways to communicate, you can bet the Labs are looking for them."

Winfield Giguere is typical of the many young men who are finding careers in Bell Telephone Laboratories. Many other career opportunities exist in the Bell Telephone Companies, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information about these companies.

Bear Facts

By DON COOKSON
(Sports Editor)

Many thousands have read Budd Shulberg's charming novel, "What Makes Sammy Run?" We rephrased this title, mentally, to "What Makes Trackmen Run?" while awaiting the gun for the two-mile at the Maine-Boston College meet Saturday.

Our mental juggling act was inspired by the presence of three Maine men at the starting line—Paul Firlotte, Dave Gould, and Ray Holmes. Each has figured prominently in Coach Jenkins' track and cross country plans this year. And each had competed in events outside University domain just two days prior—Firlotte and Holmes in the Portland Boys Club "babython," Gould in the Boston Marathon.

What prompts a man to run five miles for a title, or twenty-six miles for a laurel wreath? For that matter, what prompts a man to run the mile, half-mile, or even quarter-mile? Most of us find it difficult to walk, let alone run, to the corner drugstore.

Glory? The glory achieved by runners is at best, fleeting. With the possible exception of John Landy, Roger Bannister, Bob Richards, and Parry O'Brien, the names of prominent track stars of our own era are obscure to the majority of fans.

At Maine, students stay away from meets in droves. Certainly, our trackmen cannot be accused of running for applause or public acclaim.

Rewards? College trackmen are strictly amateurs. Ask Avery Brundage. Better still, ask Wes Santee. True, many outstanding cindermen are beneficiaries of athletic scholarships. But the rewards in the form of professional contracts that await baseball, football, basketball players are virtually non-existent. How many professional track stars can you name?

At Maine, we reward our trackmen with letters. We doubt that this is the principal reason that compels the Goulds, Firlottes, and Holmeses to compete.

If not for glory, if not for reward, why do they run? Could the reason be that they love the sport?

It could be, and is.

GOOD NEWS—It's contest time on campus! No, we're not interested in ice-out time at Little Papoose Pond, but we are interested in your ability to predict the outcome of the State Track Meet to be held here May 5.

In cooperation with a very generous alumnus who prefers to remain anonymous, the Campus is sponsoring a giant "Score-It-Yourself" contest.

All you have to do is sit down, unclax, pull up a pencil and go to work on the entry blank that appears on page 6.

Easy? You bet it is! But we caution you to check carefully the results of recent dual meets involving the four Maine colleges. The competition will be real keen!

Three prizes will be awarded—25 crisp one dollar bills to the winner, 15 to the runner-up, and 10 to the third place contestant.

Collection points for entry blanks have been established at the University bookstore and the newscounter in the Union.

The deadline for all entries is ten—that's 10 a.m.—the morning of May 5.

Don't delay—snip and fill your entry today.

Another Victory Page In Chet's Book

Maine Golfers Host To Rhody

Coach Charlie Emery's golfers host Rhode Island Saturday at the Penobscot Valley Country Club. Tee-off time is 11 a.m.

The Pale Blue will be looking for their first victory. Rhode Island dropped the Bears 5-2 last Thursday at Kingston.

Despite successive losses to the Rams and Connecticut, the southern trip was not without bright spots.

Sophomore Ron LeClair played brilliantly to notch two of the club's four wins in match play. LeClair downed Dinger of Rhode Island 3 and 2, and followed with a 4 and 2 win over Kopsick of UConn Friday. Gethell Wins

Steve Gethell beat Winseck of Connecticut, 5 and 4, while Joe Benedetto topped Morgenstern of Rhody in the other Maine wins.

The results: at Rhode Island, Butler (RI) over Howard (M) 6 and 4, LeClair (M) over A. Dinger (RI) 3 and 2, D. Dinger (RI) over Gethell (M), 5 and 4, Rosen (RI) bested Lynch (M), 2 and 1, Benedetto (M) topped Morgenstern (RI) 1 up, Hamermand (RI) beat Fogg (M) 2 up, and Greenhalgh (RI) over Sterritt (M) 6 and 4.

At Connecticut, Marchetti (C) bested Howard (M) 5 and 4, LeClair (M) edged Kopsick (C) 4 and 2, Gethell (M) topped Winseck (C) 5 and 4, Jakubec (C) over Lynch (M) 4 and 2, Olsen (C) over Benedetto (M) 4 and 3, Kearns (C) beat Fogg (M) 1 up, and Frodette (C) took Sterritt (M) 5 and 3.

Bears Have Disastrous Trip; Face Rhode Island Here In Yankon Clash

BY JOE MCCARTHY

Maine's Black Bears will attempt to even their won-lost record as they make their home debut Saturday afternoon at 2:30. The Maine club will host Rhode Island in their third Yankee Conference game of the season.

After a disastrous Southern New England trip, the Anderson team will take a 3 and 4 record into the game. Gus Folsom will handle the pitching chores for Maine. Folsom went all the way against the Rhody in a losing cause last Saturday. Folsom allowed seven hits, only one after the fourth inning. Coach Anderson felt that with a couple of breaks Maine would have won the game.

Many Errors

The story of the Southern trip can be summed up in two words—walks and errors. The Maine moundsmen issued a total of 27 free tickets. In the field, the Bears again fell apart. The defensemen bobbled 12 chances to get the pitchers into even deeper holes.

In the first game of the trip Northeastern scored eight big runs in the first inning. The Bears battled back to take the lead 9-8 in the top of the sixth. Northeastern bounced right back in their half of the sixth with four runs. Maine picked up two more in the seventh but were unable to even the score as Ford shut them out the rest of the way.

Against Connecticut (18-0), it was just too much UConn hitting and pitching coupled with 14 Maine walks and six errors. At the plate, the Bears were able to pick up only two singles. According to Anderson, Connecticut is the best club he expects to face this year.

At Kingston Maine dropped their fourth game, 5-3.

Folsom's pitching effort was tremendous. Gus fanned eight Rams while giving up only four bases on balls. Don Beattie banged out two hits and knocked in a run to lead the Bears at the plate. Becker and Wojcik found the range on Folsom's curves for two hits apiece.

When interviewed earlier this week, Anderson said he was hoping for a couple of good days to get the infield in condition for Rhode Island. While the team was on the road and we had sunny weather, very little work was done on the diamond. A couple of groundsman picked out grass and weeds one day. But it will take three days of steady work by a sizeable crew to get the infield in reasonable playing shape.

Gould Finishes In BAA Grind

"Compared to the hills that surround the Bangor area, the Newton Hills—'Heart-break Hill' included—were nothing."

The graveyard of many a Marathoner's hopes did not impress Dave Gould. The Maine sophomore was one of 164 runners to leave Hopkinton in the annual Patriot's Day BAA Marathon Thursday.

Gould, a member of Maine's fine cross country team that placed seventh in the Nationals this fall, turned in a highly creditable performance, finishing 42 and breaking the three hour mark, 2:51.05.

Antti Viskari, Helsinki, Finland, won the event in record-breaking time.

It was Gould's first attempt at marathoning, and he told the Campus Saturday that he intends to enter again next year, and has already formulated training plans.

"I ran at distances up to 16 miles in preparation for the BAA event," he said, but should have increased this." The Marathon distance is 26 miles, 385 yards.

Gould was forced to walk the last two miles. Only three men passed him during that time.

He was the 35th American to finish. 116 of the original 164 starters went the route.

Blue Thinclads Blast BC, Move To Durham Sat.

Maine's track team made an auspicious outdoor debut Saturday, clipping Boston College, 105-30.

Middle distance ace Dick Law and weightman Bill Johnson scored double wins as the Bears triumphed with the "firstest and the mostest." Maine took firsts in 12 of the 15 events.

Bears Sharp

The Bears were sharp despite recent weather conditions that had limited them to nine practice sessions.

Well-satisfied with his team's performance, Coach Chester Jenkins singled out Karl Kraske for special mention. The lanky senior finished hand in hand with Law in the 880. It was Kraske's first win in varsity competition. Dave Maxcy, upset winner in the 440 in 52.4, was also praised by Jenkins.

The veteran Maine coach told the Campus that he was "pleasantly surprised" by the Bears' heavy scoring in the dashes. "I did considerable experimenting in the 100, and 220," he admitted.

Rod Spearin streaked home the victor in the 100 while Bill Finch was second in both the 100, 220.

Giant Thurlow Cooper ran his weight—220, that is—and placed third, a remarkable feat considering that Coop had never run the distance before.

Frosh Win

In a companion meet, the Maine frosh humbled the BC yearlings, 74-38. Dale Bessey, and Phil Haskell were the pacesetters, Bessey taking the 880, and scoring a sensational win in the mile, Haskell capturing the 100, and broad jump.

All events were held outdoors with the exception of the shot, pole-vault, and broad jump.

Saturday, Maine meets New Hampshire at Durham. The Pale Blue downed the Wildcats, 68½-57½ indoors in February.

Pole Vault—1st place, tie between Hastings and Schroeder of Maine; 3rd—Rearick (M). Height: 12-2.

Hammer Throw—Won by Bill Johnson (M), 2nd—Bickford (M), 3rd—Higgin (BC). Distance: 159 feet, 8 inches.
